... twas a long hard

... the new W. C. began to take shape and grow from a dream into a reality. Ragsdale-Mendenhall had many curious visitors, gazing at the luxurious paint to green, gray, and yellow ... at the tiled lavatory space replete with furniture ... the luxurious counselors' apartments with square bathtub. We stored; we liked what we saw; and we were proud.

We gasped when we inspected the new library. Breathtaking was what had emerged a truly majestic building. We crossed the threshold of glory. We wondered how we survived in the small, cramped library of previous years ... listening rooms for the music lovers ... of more comfortable chairs ... a cigarette when the books got us down ... of easy chairs scattered throughout. We realized we were taking an important step toward making W. C. "A"

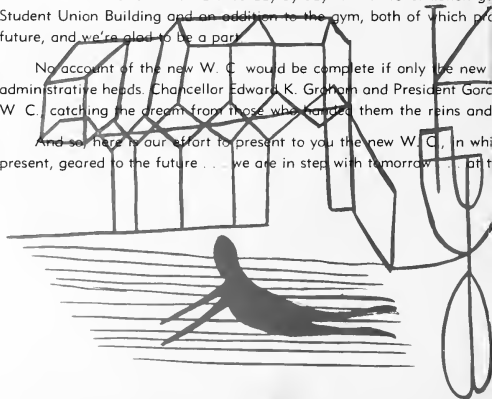

We began to admire the flat landscaping where the old bridge used to be. With misgivings at the passing of the old landmark, but we realized that progress was being made.

Directly across from the library rose the new wing to the Home Building with its marble columns. We anticipated the opening of a larger cafeteria where the majors looked forward to more room and better facilities.

But that's not all. We watched day by day further construction of the Student Union Building and an addition to the gym, both of which promised a bright future, and we're glad to be a part of it.

No account of the new W. C. would be complete if only the new administrative heads, Chancellor Edward K. Graham and President Gordon W. C., catching the dream from those who handed them the reins and

administration...1951

PRESIDENT GORDON GRAY

We can agree with President Gordon Gray when he said, "I have the highest hopes for the Woman's College, State College, and Chapel Hill." The new President of the University of North Carolina is a Tar Heel by inheritance and by choice, but he is equally well known and valued outside the state. He came to the University from Washington, D. C. where he served as Secretary of the Army under President Truman from 1947 until 1950. His record of service to the nation is one that brought him praise from national and world figures.

President Gray's work as a newspaper publisher and radio station owner will provide an excellent background for his work as chief administrator for the University. A member of Phi Beta Kappa at Chapel Hill, he has shown himself a scholar by leading his graduating class scholastically. He assumed his duties in Chapel Hill in September and was inaugurated on October 10 in ceremonies attended by educational dignitaries from all over the United States and from abroad.

GOVERNOR W. KERR SCOTT

Since his inauguration in 1949 Governor Kerr Scott has shown an active interest in the advancement of public education in North Carolina. He has worked closely with the officials of the University in planning its operation and growth. As an alumnus of State College in Raleigh, he was well acquainted with the University before he became connected with it in an official capacity. His aggressive liberalism and alert knowledge of affairs of his state are nowhere more evident than in his awareness of their needs and his interest in the students of the University of North Carolina.

CHANCELLOR EDWARD K. GRAHAM

Dr. Edward Kidder Graham is another part of the Woman's College community that is as new as the physical changes we have known this year. Our new Chancellor came to this college from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, where he was Dean of Faculties from 1948 until 1950. A graduate of the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, his name is one connected with long and loyal service to education in North Carolina.

Chancellor Graham and his family are already a familiar and vital part of the campus activities. His three children are enrolled in Curry School. Dr. Graham's new ideas and vibrant personality have brought added life and interest to the many organizations to which he has given his time and attention. We can see a bright and forward-moving future for the Woman's College under his leadership.

DEAN OF WOMEN KATHERINE TAYLOR

Miss Katherine Taylor was a member of the faculty of Woman's College before she became Dean of Women three years ago. Her intimate contact with students as their teacher has made her an understanding administrator. She is a familiar figure to everyone from freshmen to seniors. We see her as she presides in Chapel or speaks at Pre-School Conference or meets to add her opinions and help to student ideas. She keeps in touch with the residence halls through her relationship with the counselors and plans with them a homelike atmosphere in the dorms. By virtue of her position, Dean Taylor participates in every phase of student activity. Thus she is a link between the student body and the administration as a whole.

Chancellor Edward K. Graham

administration

The realization of the plans for the new Woman's College—the construction of its long awaited buildings, and the enlargement of its student body—is the result of hard work and inspired planning by the entire administration of the school. They have created a larger and more varied program in the Graduate School. This year the Physical Education Department and Home Economics Department have been expanded to meet the new demands in those fields. As we see their plans take physical shape, we can feel and appreciate more fully the long years they have spent building a bigger and greater college for us to enjoy.

New buildings, new faces, new roads! We are recovering from our first growing pains and beginning to resemble the plans made for the new WC of the future. More girls have been admitted to the college in keeping with our physical growth. As we spread and increase our number, there is one factor that makes unity out of twenty-five hundred personalities and connects the campus from Aycock to Peabody Park. This is the Student Government Association . . . the backbone of the spirit at Woman's College.

Nancy Blanton has been a President of whom we were proud, and she has had able assistance from Sarah Carter, Vice-President; Carolyn Simpson, Secretary; and Marion Sifford, Treasurer. These are the students recognized as the leaders of our Student Government, but behind them stand the house presidents, legislature, judicial and hall board members who support these leaders in administering the duties of our government. And the source of all student governmental power is, of course, the twenty-five hundred students who make up the new Woman's College.

Legislature is the representative voice of Student Government and Chairman Sarah Carter has worked with this organization to make it truly a mouthpiece of all the students. Representing the residence halls, the classes, and the organized student groups from all parts of campus, Legislature has discussed and adopted ideas that are of concern to the entire student body. The National Student Association representative was made a member of Legislature. The Busy sign idea that originated in S.G.A.'s Pre-School Conference was voted on and put into operation by a Legislature eager to make any adjustment that will be beneficial to the students. Legislature re-vamped the Points System in certain cases in an effort to make the points carried more equally match the responsibility of the job and to distribute office-holding to a larger number of students.

The Faculty participates in this organization, and we welcome their guidance. But at the same time we appreciate their recognition of our own ability to do the main job ourselves. This is a greater lesson than could be learned from any textbooks in making decisions and assuming responsibilities similar to those we shall meet after leaving this campus.

Student Government did not begin with us this year, and we cannot take credit for its successful establishment. But our selection of leaders and the cooperation of faculty and student body in the smooth operation of S.G.A.'s functions have carried on the tradition that is a part of the old WC and the plan of the new WC.

greater university council

Three years ago students from State, Carolina, and Woman's College, recognizing the need for greater unity among the three parts of the University, established the Greater University Student Council. Their aim was to make the academic and social functions on each campus available to the students from the other two schools and thus strengthen the bond among the students of the three divisions.

This year the council elected Henry Odum of State College as President. Other officers were Nancy Holder of W. C., Vice-President; Charles LeGrand of State, Secretary; and Tom Sully of Carolina, Treasurer. Jaylee Montague of W. C. was chairman of the projects committee.

Their first project of the year was Greater University Day in Chapel Hill. Council members gave a reception for President Gordon Gray and represented the student bodies as hosts and hostesses at the inauguration. They adopted a plan by which exchange lectures from the three faculties could be called to speak on either of the three campuses. An active and widespread publicity campaign was planned so that students of the University would be made aware of plays, glee club concerts, and social functions occurring at all the schools. They planned for the exchange of programs among groups of similar interests.

These activities are important steps forward toward the goal of greater unity. We are proud of the interest taken by the students in this attempt to work out the conflicting needs and common problems of the three schools that form the Greater University.

greater university day

The State-Carolina football game in Chapel Hill on September 23 was the setting for the 1950 Greater University Day. Seven hundred WC girls joined with students from the other two schools to make this Student Council project a success.

We had our own cheering section in the end zone of Kenan Stadium. Our cheerleaders joined first with the cheerleaders from State, and then with the Tar Heels' to yell for both teams. At halftime, the songs from all three schools were featured and the card tricks emphasized the theme of unity.

A reception at Graham Memorial Hall followed the game. We paired off with the State and Carolina boys and made plans to attend the informal dance that night, climaxing an enjoyable Greater University Day.

judicial board

Each Monday night that the members of Judicial Board gather around the horseshoe table in the Alumnae House is an additional proof that great responsibility has been wisely placed in the hands on the students on the Woman's College campus. This organization demonstrates that we are capable of handling our own problems with open minds and firm understanding.

Members of Judy Board deal with each case as an individual one and use their combined judgment in an effort to be fair and just. Theirs is a responsibility not to be taken lightly, and the knowledge of this fact is an integral part of their code.

To the ones who must face the horseshoe table, Judy Board meeting may be a time of dread. But even these few come away with a new respect for a system under which a student's mistakes are judged and punished by the group most likely to understand and sympathize, a group of her fellow students. The organization has gained respect by adhering strictly to their rule that all information revealed is to be kept in strictest confidence.

Final jurisdiction in all cases, except those involving suspension and expulsion, rests with Judy Board. This responsibility is upheld, and all matters are dealt with in a manner befitting an organization whose byword is democracy.

Here's to the class none can surpass;
We'll never be outdone.

For the class of '51.

Our colors bold and clear.
Loyal are we to W. C. ;
Forever hold it dear.

presenting...

Mr. Graham at work is used to his pipes. Miss Turner, his secretary,

. . . Dr. Edward Kidder Graham, our new Chancellor and our friend. Mr. Graham is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and therefore was well-acquainted with the W. C. campus in quite a different capacity from being its Chancellor. He came to this post from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, where he was Dean of Faculties. We extend a sincere welcome to him and his family.

In recognition of his energetic work toward making the new W. C. a reality . . . with appreciation for his vigorous interest in us . . . for his ready wit and hearty laugh . . . for adding a new spark of life . . . for all this and much more, we, the Senior Class, proudly honor our Mr. Graham.

Mr. Graham at home. . . the family circle gathers around "Pop."

MEMBERS IN COURSE, CLASS OF 1951

GOLDEN CHAIN

The members of the Golden Chain are chosen on the basis of the seven golden links . . . leadership, scholarship, service, tolerance, magnanimity, judgment, and character. These students are the outstanding campus citizens in all phases of activity at Woman's College.

Golden Chain replaced Who's Who on the campus and is a preface to the establishment of Mortar Board. Service is its main function, service from the organization and from its individual members. Golden Chain does not seek publicity, nor are many people aware of the important work it does. This year they have purchased moving picture equipment to be used by the students and have continued their project of ambassadors at large, telling North Carolina high school girls about the benefits of Woman's College. On the campus, the Golden Chain serves wherever it sees a need or is called upon for help.

Pat Ashley has served as president of the organization this year. Sarah Ann Hamilton, Vice-President; Jaylee Montague, Recording Secretary; Hazelbelle Pearsall, Corresponding Secretary; and Ann Brothers, Treasurer, have helped her in the job of planning.

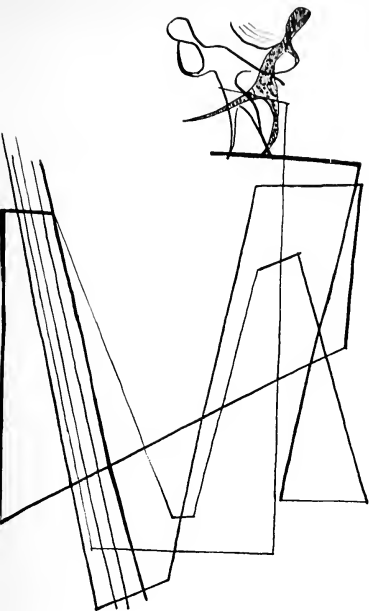

Faculty advisors and student members alike contribute constructive criticism and able guidance in an effort to serve the college best. We can point with pride to the girls who symbolize through their leadership at Woman's College the seven-link chain of honor.

Yes, we're the Class of '52.
Our service we will render
To thee, our dear old W. C.,
And all who will defend her.
Yes, we'll strive to make her glory shine
Through faith and loyalty.
So come on, Class of '52,
We're all for W. C.

If we can honor bring your name,
If we can ever serve you,
We'll seek in all the years to come
By actions to deserve you.
Yes, our aim to make your glory shine
We'll strive for faithfully.
Then come on, Class of '52,
We're all for W. C.

What is the best class at W. C.?
It is the class of '53;
And like our colors, white and blue,
We represent the good and true.
What is the best class at W. C.?
It is the class of '53.

Who has the spirit, stands for the right?
It is the girl in the blue and white.
So give a cheer for our dear class;
It is the one they can't surpass.
What is the best class at W. C.?
It is the class of '53.

freshman class ... 1951

freshman class song

Our colors are the green and white;
Our goal is higher knowledge.
We came to learn, will leave to spread
The fame of Woman's College.
For we're the Class of '54,
And all through our days,
Thy name we'll cherish evermore
And always sing thy praise.

Our ideals and our deeds will speed us
On through Woman's College.
Our motto will forever lead us:
"Character through knowledge."
Our alma mater we adore;
To her we'll stand true.
Our classmates we shall ne'er forget
As friends we make anew.

Chorus

Oh, rah, rah, ye Freshmen, we'll always be
So proud of our class, and so glad to know that we Will never forget our love and loyalty
To our Woman's College: Hail to Thee!

TOWN STUDENT'S JUDICIAL BOARD

The Town Students Association is an important organization on our campus. It is a link between the college campus and the large number of students who live in town. Their headquarters, the Town Student's Room, is a campus landmark. There the Greensboro girls can take a breather between classes, play a game of bridge, or maybe take a nap (if they are deaf).

Within this group the girls have their own social committee and judicial board with President Laura White Wolfe as chairman. The wiener roasts and the dance in the spring are a traditional part of the Town Student's activities each year.

The girls who live off campus have disadvantages — getting up a little earlier for an eight o'clock class, the overnight reserve books problem at the library, the rush for a seat at Jerry's or the Soda Shop at lunch. These drawbacks are well balanced by the non-existent travel problem on holidays and the even more non-existent curfew hours on week-ends. The Town Students are as much a part of Woman's College as their room with the ashtrays, cards, knitting needles, books, and gossip.

The Young Women's Christian Association at Woman's College is an organization that is open for membership to every girl of any faith from the first freshman to the last senior. It is their purpose to help every girl build for herself a more full and complete life and to reach a more comprehensive and satisfying knowledge of God.

President Marie Averitt asked for suggestions and ideas from students and members, which she and her officers integrated into the Y plan for 1951. Working with her were Nancy Whitley, Vice-President; Anna Beeson, Secretary; and Elaine Holly, Treasurer.

They organized a trip to the Jewish Synagogue as the first part of a campaign to gain a better understanding of the various religious faiths and their houses of worship.

Panel discussions on marriage and the home were held in both the freshman and upperclassman Y clubs. Programs were planned to inform the students on current world affairs and the place and duty of youth in these affairs. Christmas and Thanksgiving worship services were held for all faiths in the Religious Activities Center. There were social meetings held with YMCA members from our brother institutions. The freshman clubs continued the tradition at Christmas of the Hanging of the Green at the residence halls and at the homes of Chancellor Graham and Dean Taylor. Our Y was alert to community needs and responded to any call for service in Greensboro.

CHARLOTTE BUNCH

Twice a month, in the Religious Emphasis Room, a group of girls representing every religious faith on campus comes together for the sole purpose of promoting better understanding among these various faiths.

Among their projects this year were Religious Emphasis Week in the fall, presenting outstanding speakers from every faith. These men spoke to us at Aycock and in individual sessions in all the dorms. In the spring the Council sponsored World Day of Prayer. Interfaith Council co-operates in all its activities with the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

service league

"Let's add another car to the train. When the caboose goes on, we'll be over the top!" That was the starting gun for this year's Service Drive. Although we didn't go "over the top," more dormitories went one hundred per cent than ever before—and the caboose was added. It was a real feather for Service League's cap because giving was on a voluntary basis for the first time and enough money was raised to bring another foreign student to Woman's College campus. The League's next project was a clothing drive, highlighted by a race for the best dressed dorm dummy. We gave our old clothes in a competitive yet serious manner for needy Greensboro families. The Conservation Drive made everyone conscious of the tremendous waste on our campus. "Service will remain and service we will do"—a wonderful motto as again the Service League made everyone on campus conscious of the Christmas Spirit all year round.

In addition to its own concerts, the Greensboro Orchestra, with H. Hugh Altwater, conductor, and George W. Dickieson, concertmaster, participates in the Messiah presentation, the Arts Forum, and various other performances. The Orchestra, which is completely symphonic in structure, is composed of faculty members, students, and members carefully selected from the community at large.

The Woman's College Choir, under the direction of Mr. George Thompson, is composed of approximately one hundred and fifty members from all phases of campus life. The group performs at many college functions—chapel programs, Arts Forum, University Sermons, and graduation. Arrayed in its full glory, the choir draws capacity audiences at the annual Christmas Concerts.

This group is one of the few music groups on campus which goes out of town for several performances during each season. Under the direction of Mr. George Dickieson, the Chamber Music Players devotes its time to reading and performing chamber music works for strings, with the occasional use of wind instruments. It usually makes its regular appearances in conjunction with the Greensboro Orchestra.

In Aycock the curtain is rising and the play has begun—"The Heiress," Experimentals, "The Tempest," "Arsenic and Old Lace." Upstairs lie thread and needles, remnants of last minute costume changes. Greasepaint and cotton litter the make-up room downstairs. The lights are shining from the balcony. Somewhere, everywhere are Annie, "Teacher," and Miss England. Critics may be "out front," but none so harsh as the ones back stage. Mark, Mr. Bowman, and the crewheads ever exacting, ever watching the "green" ones and the experienced ones alike. "But what can I do?" the new ones ask. "There are always paint cans to be scrubbed and floors to be swept," comes the reply. "and do it right!" The Playlikers have presented a successful season, complete with bouquets and Thumper.

The Playlikers of Woman's College are "on stage" all year around. After the regular school session has ended, this group of actors and actresses travel to the mountains to spend fun-filled weeks on the stage of the Burnsville Summer Playhouse. Very young in years, this organization has gained fame throughout North Carolina for the Woman's College and the Playlikers. Anne Edwards is President of Masqueraders, a group of students who have participated in the productions at Aycok both as actors and workers behind the scenes. From this group are chosen the members of Alpha Psi Omega, whose President is Doris Hovis. Together they choose the plays, build the sets, act, and make their behind-the-scenes work to live for the large numbers of people who attend their Playliker productions.

To them, the play is the thing. No late, no week ends at Chapel Hill, no extra-curricula activities . . . just Aycok. Their eyes are filled with another love, another sense of loyalty. And if you ask them why, they will look at you in wonderment and answer, "I don't know why. I just like it. What else is there?" Then you know that to these people, "There's no business but show business."

The 1951 Pine Needles is a reality and getting it together and making it your book is just a memory. Kat's idea was "the new W. C.," the new W. C. that we have seen slowly assuming shape on the campus in the years since the class of '51 came to the campus. We liked the idea of putting down in our book memories of the expansion and growth of our college while it was still in the process of changing.

After the idea came the work. Juniors and Seniors filed into the Alumnae House, smiled for Mr. Taylor and Mr. Staley, and then waited for the results. Faculty members had to be rounded up for their pictures. "Didi" and her camera could be found anywhere and everywhere trying to get a view of the campus, a club member, or a lecturing professor.

There were deadlines that hounded us, deadlines for the printers, the engravers, the photographers. There were times when the lack or loss of one snapshot or the presence of one unidentifiable person in a picture seemed capable of delaying the annual, but it all worked out in time. Gris worked to capture the theme in her drawings. Nancy sold the annuals and then scurried around peddling ads and counting pennies to pay for it.

The work was all finished and in the printer's hands. We could relax and rest—almost. Piece by piece it began coming back to us in the form we had planned. With the fondness of a parent we could feel pride in the scattered pictures and pages just off the press to be proofed. And now we leave the book in your hands for whom it was created, with the hope that the memories it holds will remain long years after the new W. C. is no longer new.

the carolinian

Wednesday night in the Carolinian office in the Alumnae House is enacted a weekly pageant not equalled anywhere else on this campus. Should you drop by on the night the Cary goes to bed, you might wind up behind a locked door that opens only for one who can produce an original feature story never used before in the Cary or any newspaper.

Tempe, the big boss, presides over this weekly session with as much calm dignity as any editor can muster at midnight in the face of a deadline. The staff reporters type on into the night while James complains about the mess they are making in his building and while Elizabeth inspires hungry writers with cake and coffee. Seldom has the Cary gone to press without a word (or two, or three) from Mr. "Wilkie," who looks in from his late chores in the News Bureau around the corner.

Gotta get those Cary bundles out to the dorms!

The newspaper-office atmosphere of the Cary headquarters has been heightened by the unexpected people and events that pass through the office. Cary went down in Associated Press history the day President Gray granted an impromptu interview in front of the office during his inauguration. Cary pitched right into current world affairs when it was thought Uncle Sam was sending his well known greetings to the Woman's College campus. The Cary gained quite a bit of distinction the night Chancellor Graham was mistaken for a janitor by a visitor to the office.

There are nights when eight pages of blank space seem impossible to fill with just plain words when there's no money left in the budget for pictures. There are times when you can't capture a three column story in a one line head and when not even Rose can think of a new gag for the humor column. But as Mr. "Mac" out on Trinity Street has said as he has sent Cary to press for twenty-six years, "Now don't you worry. We've been raising editors for years."

Poor Editor! Everybody wants something of theirs!

Coraddi has had its problems in the last few years, and this year has been no exception. Joanne and her staff have worked to offer the best writing to which they have resources and to enter the Coraddi into equal competition with other college magazines that hold to the highest standards of literature.

It has not been easy. There were the locals McLean issued on Monday morning. "Stories will be in office tonight. Be ready to vote Wednesday." By the deadline the staff members weren't speaking to each other.

No one can agree on this story or that one. And there must have been more than five stories submitted! Where is that poem (?) somebody wrote? Twenty-three white pages can consume a lot of words. The engraver must have thought this picture was the design for a new postage stamp. Have you measured it?

Late into the night Margaret and McLean slave over make-up. Powell issues orders right and left. There must be one person left on campus with an original idea. The literary staff began peeking around doors and out from under soda shop tables hunting for fiction. Mrs. Rogers and Mr. Macauley fortified their offices against eager writers seeking conferences on story revisions.

There was the Campus Creative Contest. Just one more poster, Wendy! Mr. Jarrell talked to the Coraddi Club. "My wife says I shouldn't make it like a class." Any tendency toward grimness on the part of any member shall be considered sufficient grounds for expulsion from the club.

social planning council

With a concert by the Duke Cavaliers followed by a campus-wide informal dance on the night of October 21, our Social Planning Council, under the leadership of Betty Lou Merrill, assured Woman's College girls that their campus social program would be packed with variety and appeal. Early on the appeal list was Greater University Day with the Carolina State game followed by an open house tea at Chapel Hill. This tradition was established last year by the Greater University Council.

In mid-November, Davidson-Woman's College Day was initiated with the aid of Davidson Social Chairman, Tommy Haller, and was ushered in with a football game, Sadie Hawkin's Day square dance, supper in the Fraternity Houses, a hay-ride, a movie at the "Y," and an informal dance in the gym. Then the Council's variety list began with a December concert and variety show at Aycock by Burt Massengale and his orchestra. Fashion variety was created by Montaldo's and Ellis Stone's fashion shows.

Advisors to Betty Lou and her committee are Mrs. Anne F. Carter, Miss Alice Suter, and Mrs. Josephine Schaeffer. They consistently aim to promote an integrated campus social program with variety and appeal to as many students as possible. Working with the Social Planning Council are representatives from the four Societies, Recreation Association, Y.W.C.A. and the Town Students. One of the most important jobs is cooperation with Hall Social leaders, also members of the Council, who direct social activities in the residence halls. The four Societies sponsored the annual dances, the banquet, and a Rat Day flung with streamers of blue, green, red, and yellow.

A balance, an offset, and a medium of happy campus life are synonyms for the accomplishments and standards of the Social Planning Council.

The Recreation Association Cabinet is made up of sports heads, club presidents, committee chairmen, and three faculty members. Cabinet members are elected by the students for their ability to lead and organize sports and other recreational activities. It is their duty to decide on policies and procedures for the Recreation Association and to help solve problems concerning recreation for the campus.

go sporty with

"A sport a day for every girl." This is the claim made by the Recreational Association on Woman's College campus. From the way things stand, it looks as if it is absolutely correct. R. A. offers everything from archery to volley ball. Just take your choice of any sport; and if they don't have it, it isn't worth playing.

Every season has its own sports, in which the dormitories and leagues compete for the championship. Winners are announced at the end of each season. Fall and spring seasons feature tennis, golf, archery, hockey, riding, and softball. The winter season features basketball, volley ball, and stunts and apparatus. If you like to swim, the pool is open all year.

They call this "Stunts and apparatus," but what it means is sore limbs.

You don't even have to exert yourself to any great extent to participate in R. A. There are many sports offered that do not demand too much energy. If you do not know how to play a sport, there is always someone there ready and willing to help you.

The clubs connected with R. A. should not be forgotten. Dolphin-Seal Club for the swimmers, Boot 'n Spur for the equestriennes, Modern Dance Club for the choreographers, and Square Dance Club for the "Virginia Reelers." These are by no means all of the clubs, but they go to show some of the various activities in which a Woman's College student may participate.

Yes, "a sport a day for every girl" is a claim well stated and upheld by the Recreational Association.

Gym Meet means fun and entertainment to the audiences that gather to witness it. It was exactly that and more. The entertainment ranges from awe-inspiring feats of physical coordination to the stunts of a troop of clowns.

"The Circus" was given in the gala spirit that belittled the theme. The brilliant colors, gay music, and carefree spirit was caught in this exciting three ring affair.

Each girl participating in the gymnastic-skills part of the program performed a series of feats. Upon the completion of each she was given points according to her performance. When all the girls had finished, the totals were compared and an honorary team was chosen from the highest ratings. These were announced at the end of the event along with the winning league.

The evening closed amid the cheers and applause of the audience for the successful ending of a performance that had required a great deal of work and planning.

ARTS FORUM STUDENT COMMITTEE

Student writers, painters, composers, playwrights, and dancers from many colleges gathered this year on the Woman's College campus to join with us in participating in the eighth annual Arts Forum. Since its inception, the Forum has grown from a stimulant for a handful of student creative work to encompass material from aspiring artists of the nation.

During the student activity week, three one-act experimental plays were presented by the college Playflickers, a marionette and puppet performance was given, photography and art work were exhibited, poetry and literature were read for criticism, and the modern dance group performed student-choreographed work.

Skillful criticism from the distinguished authorities present was invaluable to the rising generation of artists. Robert Penn Warren, outstanding novelist and critic, and professor of English at the University of Minnesota, offered his expert opinion at the session of literary criticism. Prominent in the world of music, Earl Moore, head of the Department of Music and teacher of music composition at the University of Michigan, discussed the music; Martha Hill, teacher of dance at New York University and Bennington College and co-director of the Summer School of Dance at Connecticut College for Women, demonstrated dance techniques and constructively reviewed representative works of the dance. Analyses of the one-act experimental plays was given by Robert Porterfield, head of the Barter Theater of Virginia, and the panel discussions on art work were conducted by George Boas, professor of Aesthetics at Johns Hopkins University.

The continued success and improvement of the expanding experience we call the Arts Forum is accredited to Dr. Marc Friedlander, who took his position as chairman in 1946 and with every year increases the benefits derived by the students.

Composing the student committee were Esther Elliot, Louise Erickson, Anne Edwards, Bette Barksdale, Carol Byrd, Jo Carroll Ennis, Carolyn Dietz, Barbara Jobe, Mary Idol, Joanne McLean, and Tempe Hughes. Anne Powell served as Arts Forum secretary and student chairman.

harriet elliott social science forum

Using "Public Opinion in a Democracy" as its theme, this year's Social Science Forum intensified for its listeners an awareness of the real danger to public opinion of false propaganda. History Professor Arthur M. Schlesinger of Harvard voiced through his discussion "Who Makes Public Opinion?" his views of the subject. Robert K. Merton of Columbia University aroused interest with his question, "Do We Have a Free Market in Ideas?" Charles A. Siepmann, also of Columbia, spoke on "The Nature of Propaganda," and Hadley Cantril, Director of the Office of Public Opinion Research at Princeton, lectured from the panel on "The Citizen and the Policy Makers."

STUDENT COMMITTEE

Seeking to explore the conflicting problem from both theoretical and practical angles, the Forum invited representatives of the press, radio, and television to sit in on the meetings and enter into the discussions. The weeks of planning by the faculty committee, student committee, and scores of other persons, brought to Woman's College, as well as citizens in neighboring vicinities and visiting schools, an intensified awareness of the importance of making "value judgments" and in claiming for oneself "responsible freedom."

Through the inspiration of our late dean, Harriet Elliott, the Social Science Forum is becoming a tradition of the democracy at Woman's College. A faculty committee, headed by Dr. Eugene Pfaff, with the assistance of Mimi Tenko and her student committee, each year advances publicity both on and off the campus and arranges for the arrival and entertainment of visiting experts, faculty, and students. These visitors are welcomed to our campus to participate in the Social Science Forum, our attempt to become better informed on matters that concern us all in a changing world.

Robert Merton, Charles Seipmann, Arthur Schlesinger, and HARRY CAMP discuss propaganda as a part of public opinion.

They didn't live only in their offices and classrooms . . . we chatted with them at the Soda Shop, at meals in the Home Economics cafeteria, and in their homes. Of course, we cussed about their tests; we griped about their projects and outside reading assignments; we grumbled about their lessons . . . but just let an outsider sneer at them, and see how fast we take up for them!

They have required our best, but, in return, they have given their best to us. They have led us, certainly, but in so doing have taught us to lead.

to learn ...

WC was so new and so were we. The place was so big, and no one could give us directions to the Class Charman's office; they didn't have a compass, either. We tagged after "Ask Me" signs and learned to go around the deepest ditches.

They told us our color was green, and that's just the way we felt. We saw the red-jacketed Seniors look sad when the old bridge fell, and we didn't understand how they could be sentimental about an old bridge.

It was just too much that we had to have a speaking acquaintance with every leaf in Peabody, much less endure those gosh-awful three-hour labs. They told us Dr. Graham was a freshman with us, too, but he was just another face for us to learn.

We learned that lights went out for us at eleven o'clock, and an extra minute meant telling it to the judge. But, we learned. We had a class song and officers pretty soon, and we were beginning to know someone besides the roommate. We were catching on, and it was wonderful.

An important event in every
jackets!

The first year was rough, but we came back. We still jumped when someone said "Freshman," but we covered it up with that "I'm past that stage" look. The upper-classmen dorms with seniors living next door were just as new as late lights every night. There was no more hoarding of week-ends in case you were asked to Chapel Hill. We pestered Dr. Layman about the requirements for this major and that.

The blue jackets came in December, and we marched with our banner through the dining halls, trying to keep together on our class song. Other jackets were brighter, but none so new.

We gave the Sophomore-Senior Shipwreck party for the "big sisters" who were leaving, and sang until we choked as they filed out of the last mass meeting. At the crack of dawn, we gathered daisies for the Daisy Chain and held it while the black robes marched through. We were old-timers at last, but it was mighty nice to know we would be coming back in the fall.

We got the school rings, and they matched our black jackets just fine!

Three down and one to go! We are stepping into the campus jobs now, and are, at last, a "big sister" class. We directed Freshman Week and we answered all the questions. We never expected to live so long!

Freshman year is just a memory, 101 courses just a dream, a bad one. We were rats and longed for revenge. The faces, faces, faces that now are so familiar. We moved up a notch and returned our "sisters'" hospitality with the Apache party. We put over the Vocational Guidance program in April and sold school pins, stationery, and anything without roots to build up our treasury.

This year we danced to Deep Purple, and planned and attended our first Junior-Senior. The Junior Show was the hit of the year, as far as we were concerned.

The first twinges of that "I hate to leave" feeling has begun. It was such a short time ago that we were the new ones and now . . . we've made our dash for the seats vacated by the Red Jackets. Time's passing so quickly, but the Black Jackets of '52 have one more year to go.

Sophomores getting it all done before closed study . . . Boo Pearsall, our first chief . . . "Blue Moon," a real college dance.

Upperclassmen at last, and we were no longer a "baby Class" . . . Mellic Barlow and Betty Lou Merrill directing the Junior Show, the best WC has ever seen, we think . . . Nancy Holder our president, and "Bailemos" our dance . . . our first Junior-Senior . . . real, honest-to-goodness majors . . . the green jackets leaving and our scramble for seats in front . . . we could see over the horizon at last.

Then we were the "wheels" . . . Our footprints in the mud making tracks all to fast . . . Nancy Blanton and Sarah Carter in the driver's seats and Nellie Bugg our president . . . Laura White Wolfe crowned our prettiest in the spring . . . the passing of the old WC with the bridge . . . the coming of a new era with Dr. Graham . . . the Red Jackets of '51 were a part of the old, a part of the new, and a part of WC forever.

The modern dancers interpreted the joy of the village maidens over the coming of this new season. The celebration was climaxed by the arrival of the Queen of the May and the fourteen ladies of her court. The May Pole dancers wound the traditional pole and the Queen was crowned. Then she was entertained by the village folk that, for one day at least, she ruled.

Call back youthful days in the mountains where they formed a soft brown carpet to walk on, a ready burrow for rabbits when snow covered the ground, a warm bedding for the dog house as well as the pig sty during the cold winter months, an aromatized filling for a "straw tick" to sleep on, a touch of green and reminder of spring against bleak skies when other foliage had fallen — and now as a most appropriate name for a fine publication.

A Letter to the Classes of 1953 and 1954

To the sophomores we express our appreciation of the confidence you placed in our concern by selecting us to make your class blazers. We sincerely hope that the enjoyment of wearing your class blazer will be only one pleasant part of your remaining years at college.

To the freshmen we express our anticipated pleasure at meeting you and serving your class. We believe that the Blue jackets now worn by the sophomores will amply demonstrate the quality of our blazer.

We hope that we can deserve your confidence also, and thus have the opportunity to make your class blazers this coming fall.

Very truly yours,

WHAT
 ATHLETE?

IS IT CONDITIONING. . . coaching . . . teamwork . . . physique . . . sportsmanship . . . competitive spirit . . . or just plain honest-to-goodness athletic skill?

We don't pretend to be athletic experts, because our job is to manufacture high quality textile products. But as sporting fans we think it would be safe to say that an athletic champion is the result of all these fine qualities.

We know that it has taken a combination of great leadership, manufacturing know-how, careful planning, employee loyalty, and skilled teamwork to make Burlington Mills a champion in the textile industry. The Company's many accomplishments and progressive growth during the past 27 years are well known. We are proud of this record and equally proud of our 32,000 employees who have worked together with real team spirit as members of the Burlington team.

It's a fact that Burlington's fine fabrics, hosiery and other textile products are truly "Woven Into the Life of America" — just as every Burlington plant is woven into the life of its own community.
